PROGRAM CATALOG

A proud tradition since 1920, the AAA School Safety Patrol™ Program has helped equip patrollers with the skills and resources needed to ensure children walk to and from school safely. The patroller duties are a valuable contribution to the major reduction in pedestrian fatalities and injuries. Since 1935, the effectiveness of the patroller has been a contributing factor in the decrease of student/pedestrian death rates for children ages 5 through 14.

AAA is dedicated to developing, implementing and supporting driver and traffic safety programs. Since its founding in 1902, AAA has advocated for the safety of all road users to include motorists, pedestrians, cyclists, and children.

The AAA School Safety Patrol™ was founded in 1920 and is the largest safety program in the world with more than 679,000 patrollers participating in schools across the country. These dedicated young men and women begin and end each school day at their post to ensure their fellow classmates get to and from school safely. Through AAA's continued support, the program has flourished, arming students with a sense of responsibility, leadership, and safety. To expand upon this success, AAA makes available the tools required to train patrols, keep them safe and recognize their achievements.

AAA School Safety Patrollers Follow in the Footsteps of Presidents, Supreme Court Justices, Astronauts, and Olympians

The AAA School Safety Patrol Program™ has been praised by safety and education groups around the globe for reducing injuries and deaths among 5- to 14-year-olds, the age group most at risk for pedestrian injury. The program also instills students with a sense of responsibility and leadership, as each day they protect classmates going to and from school.

AAA School Safety Patrollers carry on a proud tradition that began in 1920 and one which they share with many famous people. Presidents Bill Clinton and Jimmy Carter were patrollers. So was Olympic gold medalist Caitlyn Jenner, former Chrysler Corporation Chairman Lee Iacocca, and Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren Burger.

Today these dedicated individuals don their bright 'Electric Lime green belts and polished metal badges to protect their fellow students from the hazards of crossing busy roads on their way to and from school. As school leaders, they help teach other students about traffic safety on a peer-to-peer basis and serve as an icon to motorists, representing school pedestrian traffic.

AAA appreciates the hard work and dedication each AAA School Safety Patrol member gives to the program during the school year.
